New York, January 29.—Here I come, back to carp again. Because it is an interesting study—because I fie is an interesting study—because I fie is an interesting study—because I see in it great probabilities of progress and comfort for our people—and because I met in Mashington a few days since a gentleman who knew all about the first carp establishment in America—that of Mr. Pappe in California.

As a typical experiment in this most important matter, the study of Mr. Pappe's farm and farming will be interesting. Said my informant:

"Mr. Pappe was a German, of intelligence and wealth, who owned a farm about six miles from Souors, in California. It is composed of about 70 acres, of which about 20 acres was considered worthless. It was low, swampy land, and was fall of springs that were constant, rather than boid, and kept the place a perfect marsh. Mr. Pappe had bought the farm to use it as a dairy farm. He put the arable land in grames and grain, and selected a here of good milk cattle. This coupled most of his time until a few years since, he leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then leased it to a company of 8wiss dairymen. He then lease of the limit of the first five years and 6 per cent in the sum of the tree in this five years and 6 per cent in the streams, and is a scarce article in the bill of far the first five years and 6 per cent in the streams, and is a scarce article in the bill of far the first five years and 6 per cent in the streams, and is a scarce article in the bill of far the first five years and 6 per cent in the streams, and is accured to two interest to dream of the time until the debtile paid. As a traction o and selected a herd of good milk cattle. This tocupied most of his time until a few years since, he lessed it to a company of swiss dairymen. He then determined to utilize the marsh or "tule" land by fitting up for the culture of carp—the enormous profits of which he had seen in Germous profits of which he had seen in Gertions of the Code.

"Let us have his process!"

"It was so simple that it could hardly be called a process. He had the foresight to provide his ponds, however, before he went for his flash. He laid off the lowest part of the march into area and brought here charged with wrecking a train on the international and Great Northern railroad. Burleson confesses his guilt and says he had intended again to obstruct the track.

London, Ont., February 1.—Yesterday a German woman, a domestic in the family of Thomas with keroscene, applied a match thereto and was burned to death. the ponds soon filled up with water that has a uniform temperature of about 74 degroes. The water is allowed to flow easily through the pond gates at intervals, so as to keep it fresh. The ponds succeed each other in falls of a few feet. Besides these ponds he built several small ponds in which to place the fish that were for sale. The making of the ponds drained the rest of his 250 acres and place it the richest land on his place."

"How did he secure his carp?"

"He went to Gorman up for them. This shows

"How did he seem his carp?"

"He went to German my for them. This shows how important he considered it. He travoled 3,000 miles across the continent—then took a steamer for England, and there to Bremen. He looked up a certain miller in Rein field, who was reputed to have an excellent quality of carp. He purchased 63 fish selecting them in all sizes from fish more than two feet in length—and from that size down to the length of the length of the second of the several others were injured, but none fatally. from fish more than two feet in length—and from that size down to the length of a steel pen. He then hurried abroad a steamer and started home. He placed the fish in four buckets, placed one higher than the other, and arranged itso that the water would flow from one bucket from the highest to the lowest bucket and back again. The supply of clee gave out and he soon found that he could not keep the water cool enough. The fish, commenced dying, the largest ones going first. Mr Fappe sat up night after night watching them, but by the time he reached New York harbor only 20 of the 83 were left. Being detained (wo days on secount of annissioner, to furnish fish for 1,000 ponds it they were made ready to receive them by next summer. Congressman Blount called on him last week for 1,000 carp, and I understand got them without any trouble. The fish will be forthcoming if the ponds are already made ready.

There is no similar industry for which the way can be paved with so little trouble and expense-which can be maintained at such small costs, and which will produce such rich results.

Leaving out of question the market question—premising that not a single fish can be sold—lit would pay any farmer to establish him a pond. There is no healthier food than fish—none more savory or palatable. Our farmers can too much hason and hog-meat, and "died of a frying-pan" has already been written as the epitaph of many a pale-faced, thin-blooded pork-cater. I doubtif there are ten counties in Georgia in which a farmer can go out and feel certain of estohing a "mess" of fish, even by giving a whole day to the work, and riding several miles to reach water-sinies be fishes in private ponds. Washingtons, January 31.—Will Georgia's term of the questions which the next ten days will determine. Georgia came very near being the pivot of a mighty issue. There would have been a stir from ocean to ocean about this time if John Kelly had not divided New Yorks to that the enemy could capture it. The nation's gaze would have been fixed with a wful intensity upon the state where a foolish error of local law had brought the whole people to a sharp struggle over a mere technicality. But I am dealing wholesale in "ifs." As it is, Georgia's electoral vote has sunk into comparative insignificance. When the blunder was discovered there was a good deal of news paper talk about it. It may be resurrected for president next Wednesday week. As the result in no way is to be affected by Georgia's vote, the discussion of the propriety of counting it will not assume any distinct partisan shape. Altered as a good democrats as Mr. Carliale, of the propriety of counting it will not assume any distinct partisan shape.

And the standard control of th intimate knowledge of the negro character, are able to deal with it intelligently. Partisanship is a very mild name for the fanaticism of the northern philanthropists who have thus far assumed to have control of the problem of the negro's future. But, rather than be unjust, we will call it partisanship. It is only necessary to add, in this particular connection, that if to the wild and incomprehensible manifestations of this partisanship be coupled the insignificant fact that it is responsible for whatever wrongs the negro has suffered since he became a citizen, we shall have a pretty fair idea of the result. Of the northern attempt to solve the problem of the negro's future in the south. None of the organs of public opinion, at the north, make the slightest pretense of denying that New England greed is responsible for the existence of slavery in this country, and in a few years none of them.

—A singular story as to the proceedings of Prince Bismarck in Turkey is told by a correspondent of the London Standard. In the Turkish empire there is a large quantity of property belonging to the mosques known as "Vakuff" property. An agent was sent by Prince Bismarck to Turkey as long ago as 1867 to gather information respecting the value of this property in the different provinces, to discover whether it might not be delivered from "the dead hand" and rendered serviceable to the purposes of the state, and to estimate the income obtainable from it under a rational system of administration. The calculation based on the facts collected were worked out under the superintendence of Herr Busch, who estimated that in European Turkey the "Vakuff" property was worth over $260,000,000.

LaGrange, Ga., January 15, 1881. I have used Neurotic in my family for Neuralgia, and the relief was almost instantaneous. I have also used it for Sick Headache, Virtigo and Sore Throat, with the very best results. It is a great medicine, and everybody should try it.

L. B. ROULAND.

252 East 35th st., N Y,. Nov. 20, 1880. Your Neurotic relieved almost instantly of a Headache and Pains in my chest, with cramps in my stomach, caused by Dyspep-sia. The effect was simply wonderful. T. J. MADDEN.

Headache.

New Orleans.

In October last the nerves of my left eye became so weak and disordered that I lost all use of it. Hearing your Neurotic was excellent for Neuralgia and all nervous troubles. I procured a bottle and commenced applying to my forehead, taking care to let the medicine be absorbed into the skin. The effect has been wonderful. The nerves and muscles seem to have gotten new life and vigor and I can already see a little out of my left eye, while the other, which had weakened and suffered from sympathy, has also been belped and strengthened. I have strong hopes that my eyesight will be fully and finally restored. It is proper to add that the preparation has been used by two members of my family for Neuralgie, and that in each case there was immediate relief.

HENRY HINCK,

505 St. Charles Street.

Having experienced quick relief from an ulcerated sore throat and hoarseness by the use of your Neurotic, it gives me pleasure to commend it to all.

It cannot believe that the republican party, will, by an abuse of the power now given, brove suicidal to its own future, treacher-bust to its pledge to the country, and ruinbust to every interest of all sections of the noise. Now that noise to every interest of all sections of the noise which may be needful must be proffered through the institutions of the south—through the institutions of the south born of the consideration of rade prevails. This will abide.

The future of the negro in the south, however, is too momentous a question to be decided by simple consideration of either the passing business interests of the white and black citizen of the south will remain friends forever. They were never alienated other than by unwise aid to the negro, tendered by the north directly to the negro upon the false assumption that enmity of the white to the black citizen existed.

where than God? Will the north turns deafear to argument founded on failth in God, and sustained by philosophy and fact!

Let us see what the conscience and interest under God, of the south has done and is doing voluntarily in Georgia; a negro collega at Atlanta, Georgia; permanently endowed by the constitutional convention of 1877, when the incisive policy was dead; a common school system being steadily perfected throughout the state of Georgia, with equal privileges and facilities to the negro and whiter, municipal common schools in Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Atlanta, and privileges and facilities to the negro and white municipal common schools in Savannah, Augusta, Macon, Atlanta, and privileges to white and black—no outside pressure, but the voluntary action of the conscience and interest of white citizens of Georgia, Who pays the tax? The white pressure, but the voluntary action of the conscience and interest of the south, and his future in the south is hopeful. Inaugurate an incisive policy, political or other, because upon the fasse assumption that he must be south, and his future in the south is hopeful. Inaugurate an incisive policy, political or other, but he repression of the negro is latent manhood. The second will unarrantee free and full development of the negro's latent manhood. The second will unarrantee free and full development of the negro's latent manhood. The second will and to o-operation of the south, and his future is to political standpoint, it is too grave a matter to rest upon mere business interests or political advantage. The true view of it is seen only from the standpoint of the south, and his future is the pressure, but the voluntary and proffered the negro of the south other than the future of the negro's latent manhood. The second will be an unparfonable crime.

It may not be out of place to say, in conclusion, that there is one great want of this whole union. Each citizen owes a more direct duty to his immediatesection, "Do the duty which lies nevers to you" its a wise saxium.

Harry Stephens died of typhoid pneumonia at Liberty Hall, on the morning of the 21st of January, 1881 For nearly thirty years he was the faithful body-servant of Hon. Alexander H. Stephens. During the last few years he was the major domo of the establishment. He was "clear in his office." Former visitors there will sadly miss hereafter his familiar face and cordial greeting, and kind attentions. He was, perhaps, more widely known and more highly respected by all classes and conditions than any other person of his race in the state.

His devotion to his former master at all times and under all circumstances, alike, when slave or freedman, was at once exceptional and beautiful. It had all the warmth and tenderoess of rare filial piety.

Many will read the announcement of this humble colored man's death with the sincerest sorrow.

The firm opening of the New York market this morning created a considerable ripple in our market, and for a while it was thought that a permanent reaction had takenplace. Later developments, however, reversed the current of opinion, and by the close lower prices were generally adopted as the most probable results for the near future. The condition of the cotton market is certainly embarrassing, but we find the majority of operators largely of besrish sentiment. Without medicines, ions. The truth of this old adage is certainly being verified in the railroad disasters at the present time. It was the misortune of the writer to be a witness of, as well as a rarilcipant in, the recent accident which occurred on the Atlanta and Charlotte Air-Line on last Saturday. Many persons are ready to projudge the cause of this accident and attach some blame to the engineer or conductor, or perhaps some one would have you believe that the general manager was guilty of negligence. But i desire to state that it was impossible for any forethought or produce on the part of the employes of the railroad to have prevented the calamity.

Captam Simms displayed great diligence and skill in removing the wreck and retieving the sufferers. Besides, Coloni G. J. Foreacre is the best railroad man in the south, and always has the best interests of his road in view, and you will find no man who looks to the protection of the traveling public more than be does.

This is the name of a new patented device, to be attached to carriages, buggies and spring wagons, by means of which a frightened or fractious horse can be instantly freed from the vehicle to which he is attached. You have only to pull a strap which lays on the bottom of the carriage at your feet, and instantly the animal darts out of the thills, as if shot out of a gun. If he is determined to run away he then runs alone, leaving the carriage standing in the street, and perhaps saving the lives of its occupants. A lady or a child can operate it, and it never fails. No carriage or buggy should be without it, as under some circumstances any horse, no matter how gentle, will run away. It is as valuable and important an attachment for a carriage, buggy or wagon as the air brake is to a steam car. The price of it, attached to your carriage in perfect working order, is only six dollars. If you would like to have one of them, and by its use perhaps save a broken buggy or the life of some member of your family, address the agent, W. H. Shepard, Atlanta, P.
